

Convicted Killer Faces 2 Other Murder Charges

Prosecution Claims Motherwell Slew Wife, Defective Child

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Convicted of one murder Tuesday night, Larry Lord Motherwell today found himself the target of prosecution efforts to send him to the gas chamber by also proving he murdered his second wife and defective child as well.

The 42-year-old Washington, D.C., construction worker was convicted by a Sierra County jury of murdering Pearl Putney, wealthy 72-year-old Washington widow, in 1958 after chauffeuring her across the country on a "last fling" tour.

Will Seek Death Penalty

Shortly after the jury of five women and three men brought in the verdict and had been told to return Monday at 10 a. m. to determine Motherwell's sentence—death or life imprisonment—his co-prosecutors announced they would seek the death penalty by showing that Motherwell murdered his second wife, Sarah, and their mongoloid child, Heather.

A half-dozen witnesses would be brought from Frederick, Md., said Dist. Atty. Gordon I. Smith and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Lynn Compton.

Motherwell's chief defense attorney, John T. Reges of Washington, indicated an appeal would be automatic.

"We didn't expect to win at this level," he told a reporter. "It wasn't what I expected," said Motherwell as he was led back to the county jail.

Death Ruled Accidental

His second wife, Sarah, was found floating face up in the bathtub of their Clydesdale Place apartment in Washington on Nov. 8, 1953. The death was ruled accidental.

Motherwell was left with their mongoloid child, Heather, whose body was found in a pet cemetery near Frederick, Md., Nov. 19, 1958, during the search for Mrs. Putney. Motherwell said the child had strangled to death June 24, 1954, and that he had buried her in a panic. A grand jury refused to indict him. She was 14 months old.

No direct evidence was produced that he killed Mrs. Putney, or that anyone today knows precisely how or where she died. Her bones were found Aug. 15, 1959, scattered along a logging road 27 miles east of here in Turner's Canyon. The skull was identified through dental work.

His defense consisted of his claim that he did not know what happened to Mrs. Putney after Aug. 15, 1958, when he left her in Las Vegas, Nev.

Auto, Truck Crash Sends 2 to Hospital

A Youngstown suffered minor injuries when his car and a tractor trailer rig collided on Rt. 224 at 10:35 p. m. Tuesday.

State Highway Patrolmen at Canfield said the driver of the car, Joseph J. Stella, 27, pulled out of Raccoon Rd. into the path of the truck being driven by Charles A. Roberts, 39, of Sandusky. The impact of the collision tore the entire right side from the passenger car.

Stella suffered a cut of the scalp and face and Roberts, contusions of the body and a possible fractured wrist. Both men were treated and released at Youngstown Southside Hospital.

Two cars were damaged in a collision investigated by the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol. The report states that the accident occurred when Shirley Crump, 29, of RD 2, Columbiana, backed her car out of a private drive into the path of a car northbound on Rt. 164, driven by John Diddle, 23, of RD 1, Wellsville.

The accident happened at 9:15 a. m. Tuesday, about onemile south of Columbiana. Diddle suffered a cut of the knee. He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

No Funds, Treasurer Tells Council

City Workers Face Payless March 31

City employees may experience a "payless payday" March 31 unless the city obtains needed revenue from the county within the next two weeks.

City Treasurer James Criswell told City Council last night that he met the payroll of $15,000 Tuesday but that more funds will have to be forthcoming before he could meet another.

He said thus far this month, no monies have come in, except $300 in parking meter funds.

Criswell said the city can expect to receive sales tax, personal property tax and liquor tax monies but he said he didn't know exactly when.

Council may meet again this week to review and study municipal finances.

It was pointed out two weeks ago by Councilman Fred Koenreich, when he submitted the annual appropriation ordinance to Council, that something would have to be done to check the "rapidly deteriorating" condition of the city's finances.

He noted at that time that the appropriations were trimmed to the bare essentials. A $20,000 contingency fund was eliminated and provisions made to carry the school, patrol program only through the end of the current school year.

One of the few "extras" provided for making partial payment on the Knights of Pythias home immediately south of City Hall.

This purchase moved into the first stages of becoming reality last night with passage of a first reading ordinance authorizing the mayor to enter into a contract to purchase the property for $15,000.

However, final details on the purchase arrangement were to have been reported by City Solicitor James Primm, who was absent from last night's meeting.

It was suggested at an earlier meeting that the city take two years to complete the purchase.

Crum Is Indicted On Four Charges

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The Clinton County grand jury has indicted Everett Crum on charges of jail breaking, armed robbery, kidnapping to extort and auto theft.

All four indictments, returned Tuesday, involve less than an hour of last Feb. 18 when Crum, 32, broke out of city jail here at gunpoint, taking a jailer's gun, then taking a minister's car and driving off.

500 Arrested In Racial Outbreaks

By The Associated Press
More than 500 Negroes have been arrested in the largest mass police crackdown since demonstrations against segregated eating facilities in the South began a month and a half ago.

The blanket arrests Tuesday led one state official of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to charge that police were engaging in strong-arm, Fascist-like tactics.

Use Tear Gas, Hoses

Police at Orangeburg, S.C., used tear gas and fire hoses to quell an estimated 1,000 demonstrating students and arrested 350 of them. All were charged with breach of the peace and released under $10 bond each.

At Atlanta, in segregation-minded Georgia, 77 Negroes and 2 white youths were jailed in connection with sit-ins at 10 downtown cafeterias. The Negroes were released later on $300 bond each. The white youths were given 30-day jail terms.

Among those arrested was the Rev. A. D. William King, a brother of the Rev. Martin Luther King, r., Negro integration leader and exponent of passive resistance.

Arrests also occurred in two other South Carolina cities and at St. Augustine, Fla.

The Orangeburg arrests came after police tried to break up a protest march by about 1,000 students from South Carolina A. & T. and Claflin Colleges. The students refused to disperse. Fire hoses were turned on about 300 of them and two tear gas canisters were exploded.

The Rev. H. P. Sharper, a Florence Baptist minister and president of the South Carolina NAACP Conference, said that because of "strong-arm, Fascist-like tactics" that appeal to federal agencies is our last resort."

In other South Carolina developments, 70 Negroes were arrested at Rock Hill as they picketed City Hall. Ten Negroes were arrested at Columbia and charged with trespassing at lunch counters in variety stores.

The Atlanta demonstrations were described as the largest simultaneous sit-ins yet staged in the South. The protests were held at cafeterias in the state Capitol, City Hall, the Courthouse, in two buildings where there are a number of federal agencies, at two railroad stations, two bus stations and a variety store.

Many of those taking part came from the city's six Negro colleges. All the Negroes were charged with disorderly conduct and refusal to leave premises when asked to do so—provisions of an act approved at the recent session of the Georgia Legislature. In addition 18 of them were charged under a law originally drawn to halt Ku Klux Klan activities and an old unlawful assembly act.

State Delays Move to Reroute Rt. 45 Traffic

Pidgeon, Depot Rd. Residents Protest Highway Change

Public hearings on the rerouting of Rt. 45 over S. Ellsworth Ave. Depot Rd. and Pidgeon Rd. have been sidetracked, temporarily at least, pending further investigation of the proposal by the State Highway Department.

Word of the delay was sent to City Council by William McKenna, district Engineer for State Highway Department's Division II.

He said main cause for postponing public hearings was a receipt of petitions by the state and county commissioners urging that the rerouting not take place. The petitions, he said, were signed by more than 100 residents of Depot and Pidgeon Rds.

McKenna also noted that some physical changes would have to be made on S. Ellsworth Ave. before the state would take Rt. 45 over it. He said the street would require repairs to its surface and drainage facilities, a left turn signal would have to be installed at E. State St. and S. Ellsworth, and that parking changes would have to be made, including the discontinuance of angle parking.

The rerouting was requested several months ago by residents of S. Lincoln Ave. who claimed the heavy truck traffic was annoying and was destroying the street. In February City Council and County Commissioners sent resolutions to the Highway Department urging the change to Depot and Pidgeon Rds.

Mayor Dean Cranmer reported at Council's meeting last night electrical crews are working on a traffic light change at Ellsworth and State St. The change was requested by councilmen who claimed a straight through and left turn combination arrow confused motorists into thinking they were not permitted to make a right turn at the intersection.

Bodies of 13 Miners Found

Search Continues For Other Five

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP) — Until they found the first body, searchers held some hope that the 18 men trapped in Holden coal mine 22 might still be alive.

By early today the bodies of 13 had been hauled out of the gas-filled passageways and the last wisps of hope for the others was gone.

But the search went on. Somewhere in the dank honeycomb of tunnels were the other members of the digging party imprisoned March 8 by a cave-in and fire nearly three miles from the mine opening.

Two in the original group of 20 scrambled to safety moments after discovery of the fire, apparently touched off when falling slate snapped an electric trolley wire.

Jack Matheson of nearby Holden, W. Va., in the rescue team which found the first 13 bodies, said death by asphyxiation came early for the men in the Island Creek Coal Co. eight miles from the Kentucky border.

It might have been caused by smoke from the fire or by poison coal-gas permeating the abandoned mine section to which the victims had fled.

Passing up three carved-out rooms in which they might have sealed themselves off from the deadly fumes until help came, they had dashed for an opening in the abandoned section. But there was no opening. It had been barred within recent weeks by the crumbling walls and low ceiling in that part of the mine.

State and company officials withheld the names of those first found dead until all 18 of the men could be accounted for. Among the 18 was W. K. Donaldson, 55, a company safety inspector.

Love, Public Opinion Win Out

Board Allows Couple To Keep Brilliant Child

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs

went ahead today with plans to adopt their brilliant 4-year-old foster child, Alice Marie, following a surprise state decision clearing the way.

"I'm so completely happy," Combs said after the New Jersey Board of Child Welfare Tuesday abandoned its contention that the girl was too intellectually gifted for her foster parents to raise.

Dark-haired, bright-eyed Alice scampered joyfully for photographers around the trim home—the center of attention although she didn't know why.

Combs credited "the press and public opinion" with bringing about the board's sudden decision.

on the girl with the near-genius I.Q. of 138.

The state board held a secret meeting in Trenton in which it defended its original position that Alice should be placed for adoption with a family of superior intellectual and financial resources.

But the board added: "We feel that few things are more damaging to a child than to be fought over by its parents in the courts, press and over the air waves. We have therefore decided to allow Mr. and Mrs. Combs to adopt her if they wish."

It was a day mixed with sadness and joy for the 25-year-old, $120-a-week sheet metal worker and his wife. They heard about the board's decision just as they left the funeral home.

Suggest Troop Cuts, A-Weapon Destruction

West's Plan Gets Chilly Reception From Russians

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union today proposed that the United States, the U.S.S.R. and Red China cut their armed forces to 1,707,000 men each within 18 months.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin made the proposal to the 10-nation disarmament conference at a closed session during which the five Western allies formally submitted their three-stage plan to halt the arms race. The Western plan was made public Tuesday and got a chilly reception from the Soviets.

Based On Nikita's Proposal
The Soviet plan—which has not been formally put before the conference—is based on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to the U. N. General Assembly last September that all nations disarm completely within a four-year period.

Zorin said the Soviet plan also calls for disarmament in three stages. Paralleling the troop cuts for the three biggest powers, he proposed that Britain and France reduce their armed forces to 650,000 men each.

The United States now has about 2 million men in uniform. The U.S.S.R. says it has 3,623,000, but Khrushchev has announced 1,200,000 will be demobilized within the next year or so. U. S. military officials estimate Red China has 2,600,000 men in its army and an air force large enough to man 2,000 jets.

Calls For Reduction

The Western plan calls for the United States and Soviet Union to hold their forces to 2½ million men each in the first stage, and to cut them to 2,100,000 in the second stage, with corresponding reductions in other countries. The plan sets no timetable for the stages.

Zorin told a news conference after the session that under the Soviet plan, all stages of disarmament would be supervised by an international control organization and an inspection system. In previous disarmament negotiations, however, Soviet and Western ideas of an adequate control system have been far apart.

In the second stage of the Soviet plan, said Zorin, all armed forces would be disbanded and all foreign bases would be liquidated. This could be completed within two years, he said.

In the third stage all types of nuclear weapons would be destroyed.

The Soviet delegate said his government would insist that all nuclear weapon tests be banned "even before an agreement on disarmament is implemented."

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union have been negotiating in Geneva for 16 months

Job Gains Noted For February

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment rose in February to 64,500,000, a record for the month. Unemployment took an unusual drop of 218,000.

Announcing the figures today, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said they indicate continued improvement in the economic situation.

February employment was up 600,000 from January and was about 1,800,000 above February of last year.

This February's total employment was about 1,300,000 higher than the old February job record reached in 1957.

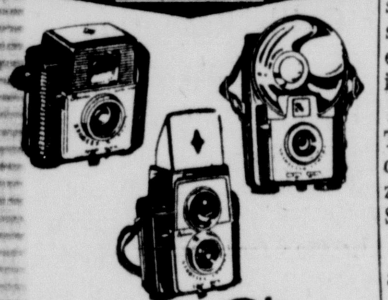

Unemployment, which usually increases in February, was 800,000 below February of last year.

The drop in unemployment was down from a total of 4,149,000 in January to 3,931,000 in February.

The seasonally adjusted ratio of unemployment to the total work force moved down to 4.8 per cent in February from 5.2 per cent in January. It was the lowest such ratio since October, 1957.

Seymour Wolfstein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, said he feels definitely that the job picture is steadily brightening and reflects continued improvement in the economic situation generally. Wolfstein predicted still more job improvements in the next few months. He said this is due to happen on a seasonal basis, with the advent of warmer weather, and does not depend on further general economic gains.

Gen. Stewart Takes Austerity Role In Duty Assignment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grade B movie on an austerity budget could provide better props than Brig. Gen. James Stewart for working his two weeks of active duty in the Pentagon Air Force headquarters.

The temporary desk assigned to the tall, taciturn actor is pushed up against the desks of another brigadier general and a colonel. It has no telephone. The pen doesn't work.

There is a tray of paper clips, a desk blotter, and a large pamphlet describing the administrative organization of the United States Air Force.

The offices of the director of public information are on an inside ring of the gigantic Pentagon building. The view from the window includes a concrete wall and a row of windows across the way.

Reserve officers have "mobilization assignments," the job they would be assigned in event of war. Stewart's assignment is deputy director of information. He is getting on-the-job training.

Supervising is Maj. Gen. Arno H. Luehman, USAF director of information. Stewart is the stand-in for Brig. Gen. E. B. LeBailly, the regular deputy director of information.

The Air Force apparently is grim in its determination to give the actor a cram course in the art of public relations. There is a detailed schedule which looks like a film-shooting script—it carries Stewart through a score of briefings, meetings and conferences.

He hears about chains of command, press releases, photographic problems, training films, magazines and books and even how Hollywood productions can be useful or distasteful to the United States Air Force.

Stewart sits in on staff conferences where the public relations experts tell each other how high policy should or shouldn't be translated into news announcements, or how to cope with "flaps"—the Pentagon word for a tempest in a teapot.

This is all new for a man whose peacetime job is acting in movies and whose wartime assignment was to fly bombers. But he says he likes it.

To his colleagues in the Pentagon, he is just General Stewart. The place is full of generals.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Common Sense Settles Stomach Complaints

If you suspect you're one of the many offenders against the defenseless stomach, here are some practical suggestions to try during national Be-Kind-To-Your-Stomach Week.

1. Put aside time for fairly leisurely meals.

Get up 15 minutes earlier, if necessary, so you can idle a bit over that second cup of coffee. If it's a rush to get out take a box meal from home and eat where you work or study.

Allow time for wage earners to relax before serving the evening meal. After the meal, sit around and chew the fat before starting to clear up. Make clearing up a family job to ease mother's many burdens.

2. WAIT FOR HOT and cold room temperature. In either case, take small sips and hold in mouth before swallowing.

3. Cut food in small portions. Chew thoroughly before swallowing. If you come across hard bits like gristle, don't hesitate to remove them from your mouth.

4. After you've swallowed a certain amount of solid food, wash down with fluid, preferably hot tea in Chinese fashion.

5. Unless ordered to do so by your doctor, avoid the roughage foods advised by food faddists. Entrance and exit openings of your

6. STOP EATING and drinking wider than the diameter of a quarter.

6. STOP EATING and drinking the very moment you feel the least bit full.

Your stomach is about the size and shape of the bladder of junior's football. Normally, the entrance of food stimulates its muscular walls to start contracting so that emptying begins almost immediately.

When the stomach is overfilled, these muscular waves become feeble and less effective. It is possible, too, that overdistension may result in a valve-like closure of the stomach's exit.

7. If you don't think you're getting enough to eat at these smaller meals, take in-between feedings at the coffee break, at teatime or as a bedtime snack. Nibbling produces better food utilization than fixed meals.

8. Taste your food before you do it with condiments. If it's food of good quality and it's been properly prepared, you'll probably need no more seasoning than a sprinkling of salt.

9. TO FAVOR relaxation, try turning in your radio for a background program of dinner music. If an argument starts at table, drown it with louder music.

10. Limit your coffee and tea quotas to a daily total of three or four cups. One of the simplest methods for producing stomach ulcers in experimental animals is a diet of caffeinated beverages.

11. If gastric distress continues after these efforts, make sure you're not irritating your stomach with medicine such as a painkiller or a tranquilizer, for example.

But don't go too far with self-treatment. If these common-sense measures don't result in relief within a week, you'd better have your doctor take over.

The complaints that persist may be manifestations of gall bladder disease or ulcer or cancer of the stomach. Under these circumstances, further delay may be very costly.

Rhee's Forces Win Election In Landslide

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Syngman Rhee's forces won the presidency and vice presidency of South Korea today in a landslide after a bloody election the opposition charged was rigged. The anti-Rhee Democratic party promised a court contest.

Post-election violence flared anew as demonstrators, disgruntled with the outcome of the voting, scuffled today with police in front of the Democrats' Seoul headquarters.

At least 7 and perhaps up to 11 persons were reported killed Tuesday in election violence. All but one died in a seven-hour battle between police, Democrats and students at Masan, 250 miles south of Seoul.

Rhee, whose Democratic party opponent died a month ago after a stomach operation, won his fourth four-year term with a record popular vote.

This time the 84-year-old president's powerful Liberal party machine succeeded in electing National Assembly Speaker Lee Ki-poong to the vice presidency. Lee, 63, overwhelmingly defeated John M. Chang of the Democrats, who had bested Lee in the 1956 vice presidential race by 200,000 votes.

The vice presidential race was of major importance because of the possibility the aged president might not live out his term.

Scientific Approach to Paroles

A two-pronged research effort by the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections may cast a whole new light on society's treatment of the criminal.

One project, under way at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, seeks to determine what behavior patterns are involved in the fact that some paroled sex offenders succeed in adjusting to normal society and others return to prison for new offenses.

The other, being conducted at Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus, seeks to determine what behavior patterns are involved in the fact that some inmates succeed at the state's honor farms and others betray the trust placed in them and have to be put back behind bars.

IF THE PSYCHOLOGISTS who are doing the research are successful in isolating factors which can be used to predict the behavior of inmates, they will have made a giant step toward curing the split personality society has about penology.

For many years our penal system has been nominally founded on the philosophy of rehabilitation. It always has been afflicted, however, with troubled thoughts arising from the fact that as many inmates are hardened in their criminal ways as are rehabilitated, if not more.

When a parolee, particularly a sex offender or murderer, commits some heinous crime, there are cries of protest against the system that permitted him to be paroled. Yet it is obvious that a hard-and-fast anti-parole program would be unfair to those inmates who do pay their debt to society and deserve another chance at normal life.

The trouble has always been that risk and luck play the biggest roles in the decisions to parole or not to parole. They are also major factors in decisions to go easy or hard on inmates in the penal institutions.

THE OHIO RESEARCH projects are trying to find a scientific approach that will remove a lot of the risk and luck. One psychologist suggests that it may even be possible to arrive at a numerical system in which the most promising inmates would have the highest point totals based on the behavior factors that have the most bearing on his future conduct.

Because human beings are involved, no system would be foolproof. But science has made some notable strides in unlocking the secrets of human behavior just as it has made progress in unlocking the secrets of the more absolute elements of nature.

If the Ohio studies succeed, they could prove to be a milestone in the development of penology and criminology.

If Wheat Were $5 a Bushel

Under the general policies outlined by Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently, the government would lift all production controls for wheat.

At the same time, it would lower price-support levels, beginning in the 1961 crop year. The aim would be to level out the government support price at about $1.30 a bushel, instead of the present $1.75 a bushel. In addition, it would pay farmers for keeping 60 million acres fallow, instead of the currently authorized 28 million acres the so-called "soil bank."

At about this point in any discussion of farm policy, the farmers mutter that they are being pushed to the wall and non-farmers make nasty remarks about people who think somebody else owes them a living. And that is the end of the discussion. It is as though a state of incompatibility had arisen that made it impossible for farmer and their fellow citizens to talk about their problems. But in this state of incompatibility, divorce is not the answer. Farmers, their critics, their opponents and their friends must get along. There is no potential terminal point in their relationship.

WOULD IT HELP all of them to hunt for something they could agree on outside the problems of agriculture and hence, by agreeing on that, to find what they might be able to find of the same nature in agriculture? The cost of steel, for example.

Steel is expensive—and this can be agreed on—because the managers of the steel industry are able to recover their costs by raising prices when costs go up.

They can do this because in a free enterprise system dependent on many stockholders the right to stay solvent, to make a profit and to improve production facilities is conceded.

It is further conceded that employees of the steel industry as well as stockholders have a right to good wages that will enable them to participate as purchasers of goods in a high-level economy.

But if wheat farmers were to decide that $5 a bushel would be a proper price for their commodity, they could not make their decision stick. Even if a considerable number of them decided to sell wheat at no less than the proper price, they would be at the mercy of other wheat farmers willing to sell for anything they could get. That is the background for government price support—to keep the price of wheat and other key agricultural commodities from falling below a prescribed level theoretically high enough to recover cost of production.

WHEAT FARMERS are individuals, for the most part. Where wheat is produced by corporate enterprise, with shareholders demanding a profit, there is money to be made by using government regulations for commercial advantage. But this is exceptional. The individual farmer cannot do it.

This difference in the organization of the producers of agricultural commodities and the producers of steel and other industrial commodities reveals the baffling complexity of the farm problem.

Farmers cannot control their prices. They are at the mercy of the market. At a time when their prices are sagging, prices of the finished goods they produce are continuing to rise or at least to stay high. They alone are in chronic distress.

They are continuing to compete as individuals in a complex economy of groups, companies, corporations, combines, shareholders, profit-takers, highly trained managers and aggressive unionists.

This is the farm problem. If it could be defined and agreed on as to its nature, there would be fewer red necks and epithets when the problem is discussed.

The famed colonial city of New Haven, Conn., whose enormous green in the city center has been its pride for over 300 years, is holding out against tampering. But the heart of the city has been torn out in one of the biggest municipal face-lifting operations.

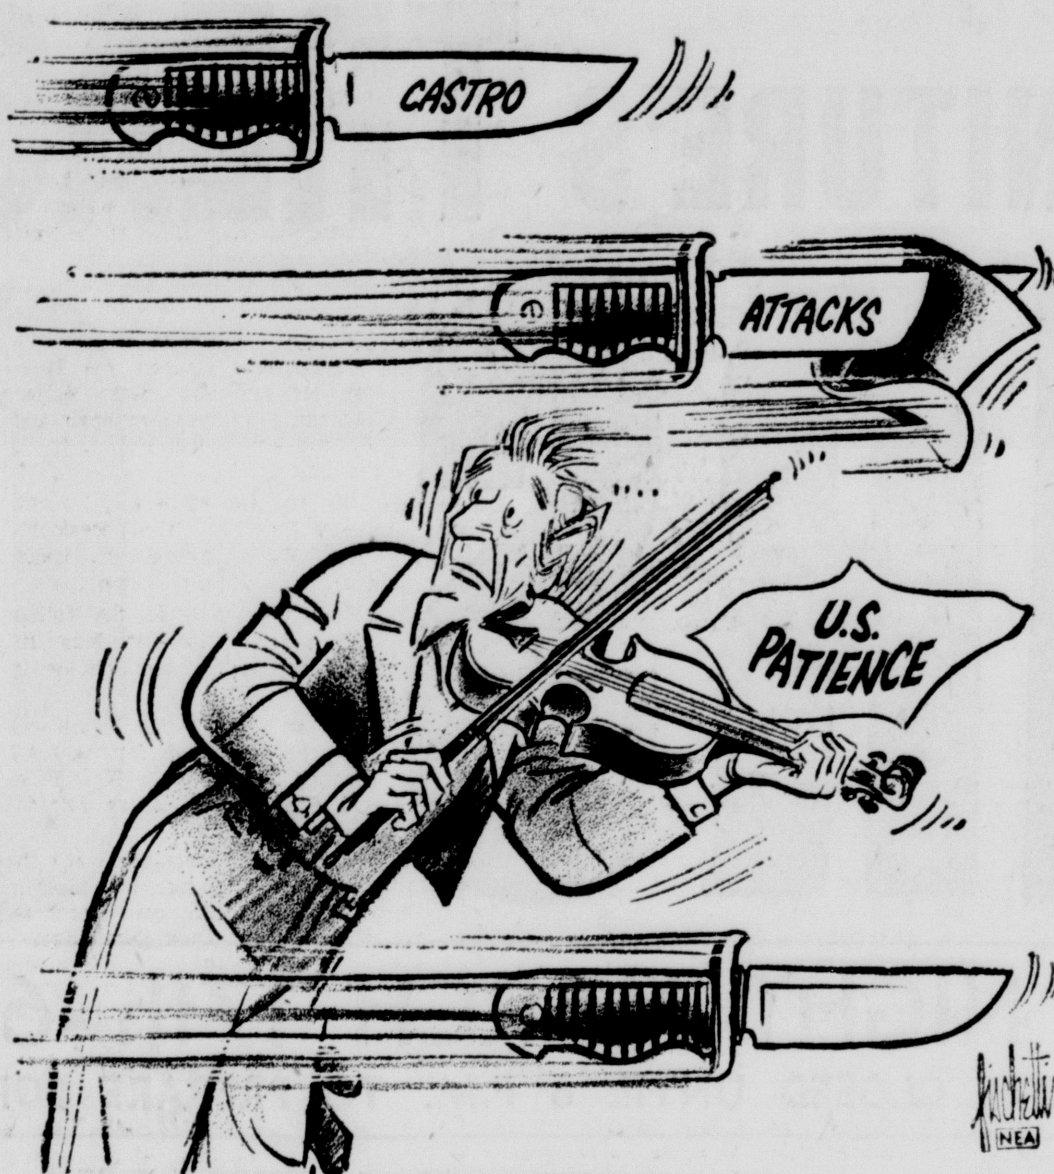

We saw the old home-town recently. Gone are such landmarks as Gamble-Desmonds, Hauff's Corner, all of Oak St. most of the routes to the depot and an entire stretch of Church St. which once held Tom Sullivan's Oneco Hotel, Polis Theaters, Childs, Hegel's Furniture Store and such Bohemian spots as Artman's Cafe, Billy Ray's, Palace Cafe, Hardy's cigar shop and an all-night drug-store over which German societies held weekly balls.

Music Isn't Soothing That Savage Breast

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There is in the Soviet embassy in Washington a mysterious Ivy League looking chap. He's in his late 20s. He speaks flawless English. He slurs his name, though, so it's difficult to catch it.

Victor Riesel

He has been in this country for some nine months — and in the past few weeks he has been dropping in on national union headquarters. He announces himself as the Russians' new labor attaché.

He asks for union documents and proceedings and to be placed on their special mailing lists. He also attempts to interest them in participating in international conferences with Communist Front organizations.

He carries authentic Soviet and diplomatic identification. He has been traced to the embassy. But there it stops. Inquiry at both Soviet telephone numbers—National 8-8549 and National 8-8548—bring polite promises of a return phone call.

Once he obtains his information, he apparently disappears into the maw of the tight little island known as the Embassy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

THE MOST RECENT visit was made to the AFL-CIO International Assn. of Machinists. He dropped in and surprised the folks there. They were startled to learn that the Russians had a labor attaché. For the Soviets that is a brand new post.

Those he has visited are eager not to give the impression to the United States and the rest of the non-Communist world that they believe there is free labor in the Soviet Union. American labor will not cooperate with the Russian "unions."

Typical of this attitude is the reaction of the leaders of the American Guild of Variety Artists, an AFL-CIO affiliate. Its officials, President Joey Adams and Jackie Bright, administrative secretary have been fighting the appearance of the Moscow State Circus in the U.S.

Adams and Bright have told the State Department of their objections. An aide of Secretary of State Herter has just informed them that the circus will not perform here for at least two years. It may sound odd that anyone should battle a circus, especially one with such bright trained Russian bears.

But Adams and Bright are reasonable men with what appears to be reasonable objections. They point out that the Soviet entertainers are really "chattel." They do not receive the benefit of the profits which generous and eager American audiences pour into the box offices.

All profits from the Russian entertainment troupes' visits here go to the Moscow government and not to the talent. The money is paid directly to the Soviet Embassy by whatever American promoter—usually Sol Hurok—handles them.

THE EMBASSY then transmits the big profits to the official Soviet State Trust. The entertainers simply get their usual weekly salaries, which are one-quarter of what our American players get.

For example, the famed and talented Moiseyev Dancers put on 69 performances. They took a gross of $1,600,000. Mr. Hurok took his cut. The rest, well over a million dollars, went to the Russian government.

Add to this the heavy take of the delightful Bolshoi Ballet and the Moscow State Symphony and you find a profit running into several million dollars.

It is the argument of Messrs. Adams and Bright that with this money the Russians provide themselves with the solid international currency they need so badly.

This is used by the Russians to bolster their own economy or to battle us on the economics and propaganda fronts. At the same time, the Russians cut into the American entertainment dollar which ordinarily would go to U.S. performers.

Jackie and Joey, for example, point out that our own circuses aren't doing too well. Thousands of jobs have been lost in this field. If the Moscow State Circus tours America, it could hurt the big-top business, permanently.

Joey and Jackie aren't anti-Red circus without reason. They merely want it known that they believe that the Soviet entertainer is a slave artist.

If he Soviet "labor attaché" wants it told to him personally they'd be delighted to do so.

Civil Rights Hypocrisy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Court Ruckus Attempt to Win Negro Vote

Much has been heard lately from the so-called "liberal" side about the need for "balanced programming" on television, but something happened the other day which indicates that maybe the broadcasters are doing better than the press in the "balancing" technique.

Just a week ago Sunday, David Lawrence for example, many persons heard a dramatic and informative debate on "Meet the Press" over the National Broadcasting Company's TV network and watched Sen. Herman Talmadge, (D-Ga.) do a masterful job in presenting his viewpoint on the civil rights issue but how much of it was printed in most metropolitan papers of the North? Virtually nothing.

The Georgia senator made some good points which still are news to many readers. What he said represents the "other side" of the controversy, and most Americans like to hear or read both sides.

Asked what could be done to insure the right to vote, Sen. Talmadge held up a sheaf of papers and said in part:

"Here are 17 pages of federal laws that guarantee every citizen in America the right to vote. . . .

"Now, in my own state we have approximately 175,000 to 185,000 Negroes who are registered and who do vote. They have elected officials within my state. Frequently they are the balance of power in mayor's races and local races of all kinds. The Negroes in Georgia do vote in very substantial numbers. In some counties in Georgia we have a greater percentage of Negroes registered than we have of the white population. In three counties in Georgia we have more Negroes registered and voting than there are white people. . . .

"All citizens who are qualified have been encouraged to vote. We can't help it if some citizens don't exercise that right. My colleague, Sen. Russell, inserted in 'The Congressional Record' this past week a statement by the leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Cleveland, Ohio, which stated that only 25 per cent of the Negroes in Cleveland were registered and of that 25 or 26 per cent only about 25 or 26 per cent of them voted. Now, we have a much higher percentage than that who are registered in Georgia and a far higher percentage vote in Georgia."

THE GEORGIA SENATOR was then reminded that, according to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, there were 22 Georgia counties where less than 5 per cent of the Negro population believed to be eligible was registered. He replied that there were adequate remedies, and added:

"First, any citizen who thinks that he is being illegally deprived of the vote can go into federal court, he can get an injunction, he can recover damages against the registrar.

"Second, there is a criminal law.

He (the registrar) can be indicted, he can be convicted and sentenced to the federal penitentiary and fined. And, thirdly, there is the Civil Rights Act of 1957 that authorizes this group to have the attorney general of the United States of America file a suit in the name of the United States of America as their tax-paid private lawyer to enforce their rights. Now, if those remedies aren't sufficient, there are no laws on the face of the earth that will be."

Then why did the attorney general write a letter this week urging the House of Representatives to restore the section of the civil rights bill that was voted down by the Senate a few days ago? The answer is that politics is back of it all.

The moment Sen. Lausche of Ohio, a courageous Democrat, proposed that the principle of "equal justice under law" be applied so as to provide criminal penalties not just for violations of court orders on school desegregation but also for violations of court orders relating to picketing and violence in labor disputes, a Northern group of senators promptly voted against it. They were plainly afraid of the reprisals from the labor-union vote.

The attorney general, moreover, in his latest communication to Congress, writes that, while the right to vote is of fundamental importance to the Negro: "This thought should not lull anyone into forgetting that, meanwhile, the federal government has a responsibility in other civil rights matters, including the duty to enforce court orders in school desegregation cases."

THE ATTORNEY General then makes an unhappy reference to what happened at Little Rock in 1957 and declares that the section deleted by the Senate and now up for passage in the House is designed to prevent a recurrence of the situation which, he says, required the use of federal troops. He adds:

"At the present time, when state officials fail to maintain law and order, the federal government, as a practical matter, has no certain or very effective way to deal with mob violence except by the use of federal troops."

Is this really so? The State of Arkansas did order its militia to maintain order and prevent mob violence but the federal government obtained a court injunction which ordered the governor to withdraw the militia. Then mob violence did ensue.

What the attorney general is saying about the need to enforce court orders on school desegregation would be received with more enthusiasm if the Department of Justice had not remained strangely inactive in recent months when labor-union pickets were refusing in many strikes in Northern states to allow non-union workers and management personnel to enter plants where they wanted to work.

So long as there are these examples of hypocrisy in government, there will be little tendency to regard the present ruckus about enforcing court orders in "civil rights" cases as little else than a brazen attempt to win an election by wooing Negro votes in the North.

Comedy Team

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An elderly woman once told Phil Ford and Mimi Hines, "Love is like old lace—so easily torn, but so hard to repair."

The two young comics, a husband-and-wife team in show business, have borne this in mind ever since.

"We try not to hurt each other in the little things," said Phil. "Sometimes it's the small wounds that never heal."

Phil started in San Francisco as a song-and-dance man at the age of 11. Mimi was only 12—just past pigtails—when she began as a singer in a Vancouver supper club.

Eight years ago they met in an Anchorage, Alaska, night club and decided to team up in a comedy act. They were married in 1954.

Life was hurried, hectic, but happy in the next few years as they toured through dozens of small night clubs in the United States and Canada, polishing their act, learning how to deal with every type of audience.

"Looking back, I can't say they were hard times," said Phil. "We kept busy. We weren't nationally known. We were"—he smiled—"a very successful unknown act."

They now earn up to $10,000 a week, and their annual income is about $300,000—or higher.

They still have to live out of a suitcase. But success hasn't so far dulced their happiness, as it often does with husband-wife teams. They feel being married is a help rather than a handicap in their mutual career.

"I deem it a very great help," said Mimi positively. "Being in love and having a certain rapport is good for your sense of humor."

"You have to love each other if you do comedy together. Otherwise you're almost sure to break up in time."

"We never want to work apart. We have fun together. After the show, we take the dog for a walk and laugh it up. I wouldn't trade places with anyone in the world."

The only time tension bothers them she said, is the last 10 minutes before they go on stage.

"It gets a little crowded when both of us try to make up in the same bathroom mirror at the same time," she said. "But the rest of the day goes smoothly."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: At Christmas time we wanted to help a needy family. For our kindness we received a slap in the face. I've been fuming for months and decided to get your opinion.

There are six small children who always look ragged. The mother is a worn-out little thing, and the father is a sergeant in the Marine Corps.

During the holidays I went over with some good used clothing and a carton of food. The door was almost slammed in my face. I was told they didn't need charity and to take the stuff to someone who could use it.

Do enlisted men get an allowance for each child? Do they get housing, medical care and a pension? If I had an idea of what this man earned I'd feel better. Can you help me or is this information secret?—WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: I'm sure you meant well but next time check with a welfare agency and learn who needs help. Or give directly to the agency and let them distribute to the needy.

A Marine Corps sergeant with eight years of service gets $325.90 a month if he has two children. There is no extra allotment for additional children. The basic allowance for living quarters is $96.90 a month if there are more than two dependents. The sergeant and his family are entitled to some medical care and there's a retirement plan after 20 years. A Marine sergeant with six kids may well be hard-pressed financially but he can work out a loan at low interest with the help of a government agency.

Little Sneak Thief

Dear Ann: My mother works part time to buy extras for the house. She keeps her money in a pickle jar on the top shelf in the pantry.

My sister who is 15 took $11 and bought herself a sweater with a leather trim. She told Mom she earned the money baby sitting but I know the truth because I've seen her counting the money many times.

Mom hasn't missed the money yet but I know she will one of these days. Shall I tell Mom what I know?—UPSET.

Dear Up: Tell your sister what you know and insist that she confess and start paying Mom back out of her baby-sitting money.

And please tell Mom pickle jars are for pickles. Money belongs in banks.

Late Awakening

Dear Ann: I met this man when I was a waitress at a very nice restaurant. I knew he was married but I didn't care. I had just been divorced and was lonesome. He said his wife was a nice person but not very good company.

He talked about divorcing his wife and marrying me but nothing ever came of it. We went together four years and I gave birth to a baby boy. The boy is now 5 years old and notices that he doesn't have a father. This man supports the child but he doesn't spend any time with us. I told the child he's my cousin.

Is there any legal action I can take to force a marriage? I'm beginning to think I was a little fool.—NO RING.

Dear No Ring: Well — comes the dawn! You weren't a LITTLE fool, you were a big one. The man is married and the law recognizes only one wife at a time. If he is supporting the child he is meeting his legal obligation.

Damsel In Distress

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and going steady with a swell kid. We haven't done anything wrong yet and that's why I'm writing. I believe in preventing trouble before it starts.

After three dates I let him kiss me a couple times. Now, that's all he wants to do. I can't get him interested in conversation, double dating, bowling with the gang or even a movie. He says if I really liked him as much as he likes me I wouldn't fight him on this.

I don't want to lose him but I can't go on this way.—DEE DEE.

Dear Dee Dee: What your relationship needs is more light and less heat. Tell the Romeo you'll kiss him at the end of the evening but you aren't interested in making a night of it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ford Motor Company announces the

Debut of the Comet

Tomorrow, at Mercury-Comet dealer's, first compact car with fine-car styling
—priced with or below other compacts.

You're looking at the exciting new value-packed compact—Comet.

NOTE ITS BEAUTIFUL STYLING. No sawed-off, cut-down look, here. The Comet is proportioned like a fine car—long flowing lines, outstanding good looks.

LOOK CLOSELY AT THE EXTRA FEATURES. You pay nothing more for dual headlights, front and rear arm rests, door-operated dome light, foam padded front seat. And the trunk holds enough for the whole family on a long trip.

YOU'LL MARVEL AT THE ECONOMY. Comet's new simplified "six" engine delivers up to 28 miles per gallon of regular gas.

YOU'LL REVEL IN THE RIDE. No choppy steering, no bumpy traveling in Comet. The longer wheel-base (114" instead of 107" in average compacts) gives Comet a smoother ride, yet it turns on a dime.

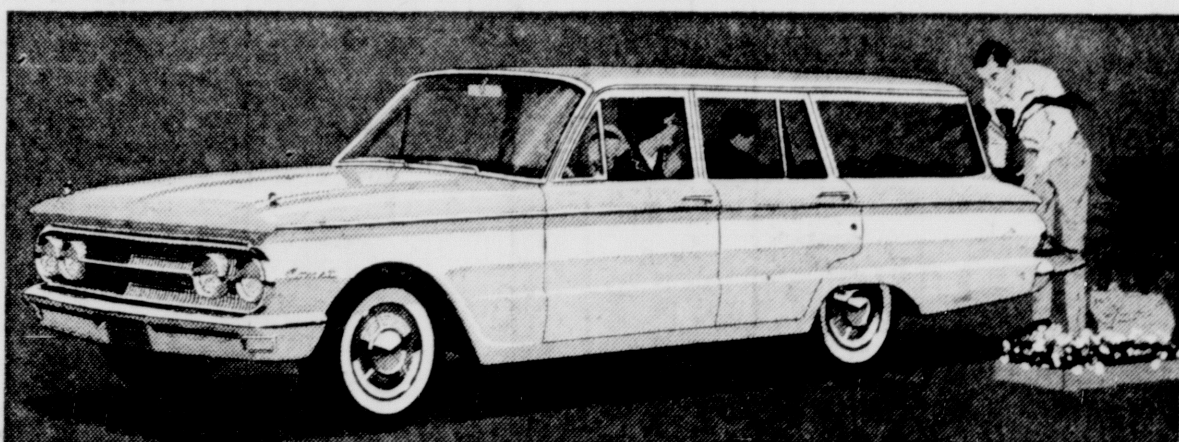

NOW, CHECK THE PRICE. Comet is priced with or below other compacts like Rambler, Corvair, Lark, Valiant and Falcon.

COMPARE ALL THE COMPACT CARS—and you'll come away with a Comet. It's now at your Mercury-Comet dealer's.

FINEST COMPACT WAGONS ON THE MARKET. The new Comet wagons go far beyond what you might expect in a compact station wagon of this size. There is over 76 cubic feet for storage—as much room as in some wagons costing hundreds of dollars more; a retractable rear window takes the place of the old-fashioned lift-gate. And, there is ample room for six adults with plenty of space left over for baggage. Along with the Comet two- and four-door sedans, there are two- and four-door wagons as well.

Miss Betty Haessly Becomes Bride of Paul E. Zimmer

The marriage of Miss Betty Haessly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Haessly of RD 2, Salem, and Paul E. Zimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Zimmer of Marietta, took place Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Moss Run Congregational Church at Moss Run.

The Rev. Amanda Miller officiated at the couple ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white and pink gladioli.

Mrs. Carl Weppeler played the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white velvet. Her finger-ring veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and iridescent sequins. The white Bible she carried was adorned with pink roses.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Norman Haessly Jr., a sister-in-law of the bride. She wore a ballerina gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta. She used matching accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Richard Zimmer was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother chose a blue dress with matching accessories while the bridegroom's mother chose a blue print dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment table featured a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Hostesses were Mrs. Richard Zimmer, Mrs. John Duff and Mrs. Henry Berg. Miss Mary Alice Berg, a niece of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

Mrs. Zimmer, a graduate of Goshen Union High School, was employed by the U.S. Hardwood Corp. of Newport, Mr. Zimmerman, a graduate of Marietta High School, is engaged in dairy farming.

Massillon Man Held In Stark Probe

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A former Massillon poolroom operator was being held here today on a contempt charge for refusing to answer questions before the special grand jury investigating vice and rackets in Stark County.

Common Pleas Judge George N. Graham said, as far as his court is concerned, no bond is possible for Jessie Toles, 43, of Massillon. Toles, now in county jail, was one of nine persons from Massillon and Navarre called to testify Tuesday. When Toles refused to answer questions, the judge ordered deputies to jail him.

The nine included former federal wagering tax-stamp holders, cigar store operators, restaurant owners and a music firm official.

Toles pleaded guilty in Massillon last summer to a charge of possession of gambling devices. Police found evidence in the back of his poolroom at 38 Tremont St. S. W. He was fined $200 and costs.

a six-year term was confirmed by City Council on the recommendation of Mayor Cranmer.

Terry McLaughlin of Sharp Ave. asked Council to investigate a flooding condition effecting his basement which is the cause of the problem. Council promised to check into the matter.

Aubrey Hayes, Utilities superintendent, reported that the city should make application for state funds in the matter of correcting the Hillsdale sewage problem. He said it was pointed out at a meeting of the Utilities Commission that such application had not been made yet.

Hayes noted that in accepting bids for materials to be used by the Water Department, the commission learned that prices had not changed noticeably since last year.

A letter was received from Ralph Martin of the Kiwanis Club stating that the Kiwanis will comply with all conditions cited by the city in the Kiwanis Club project to hang flower pots in the downtown area. The terms included providing maintenance and insurance.

Council Commends Leigh

A resolution commending Ronald Leigh, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, for his work while in Salem was passed unanimously by Council. The resolution also expresses Council's regret at seeing Leigh leave. Mr. Leigh is resigning April 1 to take a position with the Gary, Ind., Chamber.

Donald Cannon, chairman of Council's lighting Committee, reported that new lights had been installed at the corner of 3rd and Highland Ave. and at the corner of 3rd and Cleveland. He also stated that work has started on Adams Ave.

Mayor Cranmer asked that Council authorize the Board of Control to advertise for bids on new police cruisers. He said if Council knew the cost of the cruisers it might help them in deciding on the feasibility of the purchase under the city's stringent financial condition. The request was tabled.

The Mayor reported that he expected to have the cost of snow removal ready for Council by the next meeting. The cost figure was requested by Council President Michael Schuller.

In response to a query from Councilman Cannon, the mayor said he expected to have "no parking" signs erected on Lincoln and Ellsworth Aves. as soon as weather permits.

for a ban on nuclear tests. The talks have deadlocked.

The Western plan was submitted to the conference by British Minister of State David O'Ormsby. Gore on behalf of his own government, the United States, France, Italy and Canada.

Zorin threw cold water on the Western proposal at Tuesday's opening meeting, calling it unrealistic and impractical.

Zorin labeled the Western plan an obstacle rather than an aid to disarmament. But British and American sources made clear they would insist on full discussion of their plan.

The Western delegates refrained at the outset from criticizing Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposed four-year timetable for total world disarmament, but they reacted sharply to Zorin's remarks.

U. S. Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton made it plain reductions in weapons and military forces must be accompanied by safe international controls to insure compliance.

British Minister of State David O'Ormsby-Gore expressed regret Zorin had seen fit to comment on the Western plan before the conference had time to give it careful consideration.

The Western proposal calls for extensive technical studies to work out forms of control and an international disarmament organization which ultimately would have far-reaching powers. It provides for an early start toward nuclear disarmament and stresses the use of outer space for peaceful purposes only.

Nixon Endorsed By Eisenhower

Admits Selection At News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower publicly endorsed Vice President Richard M. Nixon today as his choice for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower made plain at a news conference that he supports Nixon, who at this point has no opposition for the nomination. The President was asked about published reports that at a dinner Saturday night he indirectly tapped the vice president as his choice to succeed him in the White House.

The reporter was alluding to the annual dinner of the Gridiron Club, an organization of newsmen. Eisenhower spoke there but the club rules specify that "reporters are never present."

Nevertheless, some news writers who did not attend the dinner got word that Eisenhower had in effect endorsed Nixon. They wrote dispatches saying so.

When the matter of these published reports was brought up today, Eisenhower chuckled and said that at the dinner he actually had been referring to geographical areas at the dinner table.

His suggestion was that he had not actually endorsed Nixon there.

But when he went on to say that if anyone is wondering whether he has any preference or bias as to a choice for the GOP presidential nomination, the answer very definitely is yes.

A little later he made it crystal clear that his preference is Nixon.

That happened when a reporter asked whether he had Nixon in mind in talking about whether he had any bias in the matter.

In reply, the President fired a question of his own. It was: Was there any doubt in your mind?

Eisenhower's reference to geographical areas at the dinner table related to the stories drawing the inference he had endorsed Nixon at the Gridiron dinner. The stories said he had suggested that those at the head table move a couple of places — which would have put Nixon in Eisenhower's seat.

91 Donate Blood At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 91 pints of blood from donors here Tuesday. The quota was 125. Those in charge said many cases of flu and other illnesses kept a number of regular donors away.

This was the seventh visit of the Cleveland Bloodmobile unit to East Palestine. On its last visit in October, 132 pints of blood were collected.

Blood donated here serves as replacement needs, primarily at Salem hospitals, for residents of East Palestine, New Waterford, Unity, Negley and surrounding areas.

Two men have given blood at each of the Bloodmobile's seven visits here and need only one more point to become members of the Gallon Club. They are Albert Trapnell of W. North Ave. and Robert Smith of East North Ave.

Ohio Court ignores Plea In Local Case

The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday refused to rule in a suit by Mrs. Lois P. Davis Partridge of Mexico City against her brothers, James A. Pidgeon Jr. and Joseph A. Pidgeon, both of Salem, for appointment of a receiver to sell the Budget Press and Church Envelope companies, S. Ellsworth Ave.

The Supreme Court previously ruled on partnership rights following the death of the father, James A. Pidgeon, who was senior partner, Feb. 2, 1954. Mrs. Partridge was a minor partner.

The Columbiana Common Pleas Court had dismissed the action by Mrs. Partridge but appointed appraisers under a cross-petition by defendants who were allowed to continue the businesses. They contended a receiver was not necessary.

On appeal, an Appellate Court retained the case on questions of law and Mrs. Partridge appealed to the high court.

She contended the partnership was dissolved upon expiration of a limited partnership agreement and that her action seeks an accounting and division of the property.

Fairfield-Waterford school has kindergarten and all children enrolled in kindergarten classes this year will start in first grade at that school but they will make so that it will conform to scheduled date for year 1961-62.

For the 1961-62 term the entrance age will go back to six years of age by Sept. 1 for all schools, but Beaver Local who will wait till the 1962-63 school term.

The county board purchased an audiometer for county school use for $338, a slide projector for $97.25, tape recorder for $200.56 and material for classroom instruction at $39.50. It approved the payment of vouchers of $2,095.46 which included the above items.

Supt. James McBride reported on the 10 years that he has been superintendent of county schools showing how the county office had changed, which included giving the schools back to the local boards and having them run their own schools and handle their own finances. McBride will begin his eleventh year today in county system.

High School Consultant Marilyn Solak reported on the county school winners in the state senior scholarship tests, showing that the county schools placed 12 on the list. All schools in county system had at least two or more listed in first five percent.

More School Bus Safety Measures Suggested by Group

Suggestions for additional safety measures on school buses will be forwarded to the State Department of Education as a result of the meeting of the Ohio Ruritan District School Bus Safety Committee in Lisbon Tuesday night.

James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, chairman of the committee, reports. Suggested safety measures are: visors over signal lights, new front and rear warning lights, short time flares for foggy mornings; windshield washers; larger side-view mirrors; front and rear rubber mud flaps; and ther mechanical devices.

The committee also recommended that school officials be given more leeway in permitting the delay of school on foggy mornings when there is zero visibility and driver training courses to be made available to all bus drivers by the supervisors of the State Department of Education, or by qualified driver training instructors.

School officials and boards of education in Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark and Carroll Counties will be asked to undertake more intensive training of children for bus and road safety and more thorough training of bus drivers. Elimination of as many bus stops as possible, will be requested, as will delaying school on foggy mornings and adopting Eastern Standard Time for schools throughout the school year.

The work of the committee was a follow-up to the public meeting held at the Fairfield-Waterford school on Feb. 23.

Cheryl was made a ward of the court after she fatally stabbed her mother's boy friend, Johnny Stompanato, April 4, 1958. The court gave custody to her maternal grandmother, Mildred Turner.

A probation officer said the school is a place for girls "who need a vacation from home, to get away from the wear and tear of home life."

New Waterford Emergency Ends; Gas Service Restored

Natural gas service is back to normal for 260 users at New Waterford after a frozen meter caused a state of emergency in the village and left the community without gas for two seven-hour stretches in near-zero weather.

Eighty per cent of the homes in the village are heated by gas. Located at a transfer point one mile east of New Waterford, froze. By 2 Monday afternoon there was no gas in the village.

Workmen from Ohio Fuel Gas Co. located the frozen meter which regulates the main line serving the community.

The frozen meter allowed gas to flow through only in spurts, creating the danger that amounts sent into homes would not be enough to keep pilot lights going but enough to accumulate to explosion force.

Workmen ran a bypass line around the meter until they were able to thaw out the mechanism. Service was restored Monday evening, in most cases by 8 p.m.

In that interval, however, workmen entered several homes, turning off gas lines.

By 9 a.m. Tuesday the meter refroze. Some home owners reported that their homes were filled with gas.

Ohio Fuel Co. officials in Columbus ordered a state of emergency. Starting at 4 p.m., they checked all 260 meters in the community. The check was completed at 7 p.m. and mayor Earl Welch lifted the state of emergency.

No explosions or instances of gas poisoning were reported.

St. John's Trampled by St. Bonaventure 106-71 In NIT

Bonnies' Stith Nets 37 Points

Winners to Face Bradley Thursday

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Invitation Tournament takes a 24-hour breather today while the basketball gentry savors the play of little Sam Stith that has fired streaking St. Bonaventure into the semi-finals along with top-seeded Bradley, Utah State and Providence.

Sam's savoring it, too. "Oh, man, it was delicious," he said Tuesday night after scoring a tournament high of 37 points in the Bonnies' 106-71 rout of defending champion St. John's.

Sam, a chunky 6'2" bundle of speed, has scored 64 points in St. Bonaventure's two NIT victories so far. With his ball-hawking and floor generalship added in, he's overshadowing his more publicized brother, Tom, the nation's No. 2 scorer with a 32-point average. This although Tom has scored 51 points in the two games and has rebounded well.

The Bonnies, now 21-3 with an 8-game winning streak, get their semifinal test Thursday night against Bradley, the nation's No. 1 team with a 25-2 record after spilling Dayton 78-64 in the opener of Tuesday night's doubleheader.

Providence (23-4) and Utah (23-4), who won their quarter-final games on Saturday, meet in the other semi with the two winners playing for the tournament championship Saturday afternoon.

"Our half court press did it against St. John's," said St. Bonaventure Coach Eddie Donovan.

Bradley, trailing 37-35 with about 17 minutes to play, went into its touted full court press on Dayton, rattled the Flyers, and quickly pulled into a commanding lead.

"It has worked for us many times this season," Bradley Coach Chuck Orsborn said of the press.

Hawkins Allow 5 Hits as Tribe Is Defeated

TUCSON, Ariz.—Wynn Hawkins, 24-year-old Waterford (Ohio) youngster who is trying out with the Cleveland Indians, doesn't look as bad as the record might indicate in his first 1960 big league pitching assignment.

The San Francisco Giants, who beat the Tribe 5-0 in an exhibition game Sunday, got all their runs off Hawkins. He allowed five hits, walked two and fanned two in two innings.

"Hawkins looked good, if that's possible in giving up five hits," Tribe manager Joe Gordon said today.

"He showed me a lot out there. He was a little wild, but that may be because he was nervous from his first start. Give him another couple of games against major leaguers and he may look much better."

Hawkins, who had a 14-9 record last year at Mobile, got his chance to pitch against the Giants because Bob Lemon still had a tender elbow from throwing curve balls in his first start.

Reds Score First Win In Four Games

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have won their first exhibition game in four tries.

The bases were loaded when Vada Pinson singled to hoist the Reds to a 5-2 victory over Baltimore Tuesday night.

Pinson had two other hits in serving notice he's ready to take up where he left off when he led Reds' batters on just about every count last year, including a .316 average.

Orioles' rookie Jim Archer put two strikes and a ball past the sober-faced Californian, then served one up that Pinson lashed to right field. Gus Bell followed by batting in an insurance marker.

Pinson, cautious with predictions, says "I have only one goal this season. That is to improve my batting average."

At age 21, Pinson already has made his mark as a skilled outfielder and hitter.

If he has a fault, it's a fielding difficulty on balls hit directly overhead. Coach Wally Moses is helping him break that.

Brooks Lawrence and Orlando Pena pitched Tuesday night's triumph. Pena hurled one-hit, shutout ball the last four innings after Lawrence scattered nine hits in his five frames.

Red Sox Bonus Baby Amazing Camp Followers With Play

By The Associated Press

The name Carl Yastrzemski may be hard to spell but it shouldn't be difficult to remember.

Yastrzemski, a 29-year-old Long Island, N.Y. native, is one of baseball's bonus babies—he picked up a reported $100,000 when he signed with the Boston Red Sox.

The young second baseman, who played college ball at Notre Dame, spent last season with Raleigh of the Class B Carolina League, hitting .377 in his first year in organized baseball.

This spring Yastrzemski has been amazing Red Sox camp followers with his play and has been singled out by Boston Manager Billy Jurges for future stardom.

He probably would stick now if he was an outfielder.

With the Red Sox weakened by the sudden retirement of slugger Jackie Jensen and a sub-par Ted Williams, Jurges has been giving his young prospects a solid chance to make the outfield grade.

Despite this, Yastrzemski keeps battling for an infield berth with the parent club. He came up with another impressive performance Tuesday, cracking a homer as the Red Sox ran their exhibition record to 3-0 with a 6-5 victory over San Francisco.

In other games on a program abbreviated by rain, Chicago's American League champion White Sox remained undefeated by blanking New York 3-0; Pittsburgh outlasted Kansas City in a 17-3 slugfest; Cleveland edged Chicago's Cubs 7-5 and the Cincinnati Reds turned back the Baltimore Orioles 5-2, in a night game.

The National League has passed the 10 million mark in attendance twice, in 1947 and 1958.

John Hiner, high hurdles; Charlie Horn, pole vault, broad jump and low hurdles; Ron Janovec, shut put and 50-yard dash; Jim Lehwald, high jump and pole vault; Rick Sulea, high jump, pole vault and broad jump; Ed Yates, high and low hurdles; and Bob Lambert, shot put.

Stuebenville Fighter Knocks Out Opponent

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jim O'Connell, 190-pounder from Steubenville, Ohio, knocked out Sammy Jackson, 180, of Cleveland here Tuesday night in the first round of a boxing match at the Palisades in McKeesport.

Bob Spencer, 146½, of Warren, Ohio, and Tiny Tim Simmons, 138, of McKeesport, battled to a draw in four rounds in another preliminary to a main event in which Johnny Morris of Pittsburgh retained his state middleweight title with a seventh round TKO of Al Avant of Philadelphia.

NCAA Awards TV Contract

College to Receive Record $6½ Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nation's football-playing colleges can look forward to a guaranteed record 6½ million dollars from television revenue in the next two seasons.

But perhaps benefitting even more from Tuesday's rich contract between the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and the American Broadcasting Co. will be the American Football League.

It was the first two-year contract the NCAA ever awarded to a television network, and nearly tripled the previous high of $2,200,000 bid by NBC for the 1959 season. No figures were disclosed by the NCAA or ABC, but The Associated Press learned that the ABC bid outstripped the National Broadcasting Co.'s offer by nearly a million dollars. NBC bid $5,300,000, the AP learned.

A Columbia Broadcasting System spokesman said CBS did not bid for the college games which will be televised on 13 dates each of the next two seasons.

The switch by the colleges leaves the current football TV lineup this way: CBS has the National Football League and ABC the college games. NBC has nothing to offer advertisers for the highly competitive weekend fall TV sports market.

That's where the American Football League comes in. The AFL has been leaning toward ABC in contract negotiations on the assumption that NBC money was in college football and CBS cash in the NFL.

Now the AFL suddenly becomes extremely desirable to NBC and if the new pro football league plays its cards right, it may pull off a much fatter deal than was possible previously.

The amount paid by ABC was not surprising in that the 1960-61 NCAA plan is the most attractive ever offered.

It gives the network control of both nine national and four regional dates each season. Previously the network had no control over regional games. The regions have also been expanded into only three national segments. Previously they often were broken down into as many as eight, the number of NCAA districts.

WILDLIFE IS ENDOWED with great stamina to endure the most severe weather as long as they are not trapped under the snow and are able to move about at will.

Predacious birds and animals get some easy pickings and good eating when the cover is not sufficient for game to get away from its natural enemies.

Rabbits don't suffer too much regardless of the deep snow. They are still able to get on top of the snow and nibble a little higher on the bark of the various shrubs that keep them in fair condition until the weather breaks and the green shoots appearing above the ground, adding to their diet.

Many individuals are providing corn and grit near their premises for the quail and pheasants. This is the time of the year when these birds need a little help and every little bit counts.

I HAVE NEVER seen more meadow larks and robins in the winter time than I have this year. I watched a skunk on the Georgetown Road at the Ted Sanor farm.

Defending ABC Champs Lose Title, Sponsor

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Detroit Pfeiffers, defending team champions in the American Bowling Congress Tournament, lost their title and their sponsor the same day.

It was learned Tuesday night that the sponsor who reportedly paid $65,000 a year in salaries and expenses for the team withdrew its sponsorship Monday. Monday night the club that had set an ABC record of 3243 last year rolled 2930 for seventh place in the standings.

Only one member of the team placed well in minor divisions. Bob Kwolek took over first place in all-events Tuesday with a nine-game total of 1889. His 683 in singles put him in second place in that division, well back of Mike Totsky of Detroit, who posted 711 last week.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Second guessers are having lots of fun chiding the amateur weather forecasters who predicted a mild winter.

Their predictions were based on some sort of old legend about the muskrat not erecting a large house, deepening its burrows or not enlarging its cache.

The experts do not go out on a limb making any kind of a week by week forecast. They usually say "such and such will be the weather providing such and such does not happen to prevent it." Actually it seems that they can only foretell with accuracy what I happen to be in one part of the country and which way it is headed.

WINTERS COME and winters go with little or no effect on the general public, with the exception of unusual weather isolating rural dwellers and causing live-stock to suffer from lack of pasture. This is an annual event in some parts of the country and the hardships bring death and destruction.

Locally the human population is well off. The thing that causes concern by outdoorsmen is what is happening to our wildlife?

I have observed quail and pheasants, racing across the snowfields with corn stubbles sticking out of the snow, searching for a few grains of corn. They seemed to have plenty of energy to get out and seek food.

amble across the snow to a point where a rabbit had been killed on the highway. The skunk was getting his fill eating the dead rabbit.

If we had eyes that would enable us to see in the dark we would observe many things going on that would startle us such as animals and birds, and wildlife out searching for food either hunting or being hunted. It all sums up to "the survival of the fittest."

If we don't get a break in this weather soon, one thing is sure, our first crop of rabbits will be lost. Just let the rains start now and that will be the finishing touches.

Highlight of the banquet will be the presentation of a "Most Valuable Player Award" to one of the members of the varsity squad. The most valuable player will be selected by a committee of 15 local basketball fans appointed by the Jaycees.

The recipient of the award will be given a replica of the permanent trophy which is kept on display at the high school. Woody Deitch won the award last year.

The banquet will not be open to the general public. Invitations have been sent out to players and their fathers, managers, coaches and members of the Board of Education.

John "Ace" Federovich, former professional basketball player and now coach at Austintown Fitch High School, will be principal speaker.

Bill Baker is chairman of the banquet committee.

PLAYERS OUT WITH FLU BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A slight touch of flu kept regular outfielders Minnie Minoso and Al Smith out of uniform Tuesday when the Chicago White Sox defeated the New York Yankees 3-0. The two Sox stars are not expected back to work for at least two more days.

Von Clay Upset By Tiger Floyd

Staggers Favorite In Four Rounds

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unrated Clarence (Tiger) Floyd upset previously unbeaten Von Clay, fifth-ranked light heavyweight, and then had to borrow train fare home to New York.

Minutes after his greatest triumph, Floyd learned his $750 purse had been attached. The fighter, his trainer, Vic Valle, and Frank Vone, brother of Floyd's manager Tony Vone, were staked to train fare and a midnight snack by promoter Herman Taylor.

Neither the promoter nor the fighter would say who attached the purse or why. "It's a personal matter," said Floyd as he savored the sweet smell of one of the year's big boxing upsets.

In the first of two non-televized 10-rounders at the Arena Tuesday night, young Len Matthews spanked the slick boxer from Algeria, Lahouari Godhi. The Philadelphia lightweight, fourth-ranked in his division, won a unanimous decision. He weighed 137 and Godhi 138.

While Matthews - Godhi was billed as the feature attraction, Floyd stole the show with his stunning upset of the 20-year-old Clay. Violating all the fundamentals of boxing, he staggered the 10-1 favorite in at least four rounds.

Floyd said he has had only two other fights in more than a year because of "a lack of willing opponents."

Herron's Foods Hits Highs In Bowling

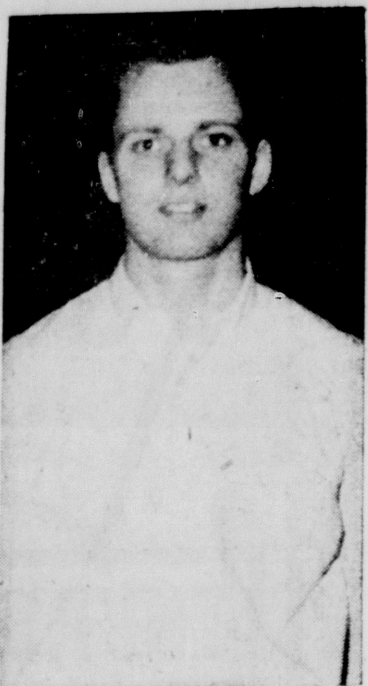

The Herron's Foods bowling team hit a new high single game of 1071 and a new high three game of 2975 Wednesday night at Saxon Lanes in the Classic League.

Outstanding individual scores for the night were turned in by Charles Huffer 676; Bill Sheen 643; Bill Pauline 635; Jerry Collazzi 634; John Balta 612; Red Pelton 608; John Pridon 604 and Paul Scullion 601.

Going into the final round, Corso's Drive-In leads the Classic League with 93½ wins against 14½ defeats.

Bill Pauline owns the high single game score of 267. Charles Huffer's 676 is the best three-game mark. Dick Hahn has the highest average, 194.

Team Co-Captain

Mark Fenton

Mark Fenton, former Salem High Cager, has been named co-captain of the Capital University basketball squad for 1960-61.

In 21 games this season Fenton scored 256 points for an average of 12.2 per contest. He also grabbed 166 rebounds and hit on 99 of 216 shots from the field for a fine 46 per cent accuracy mark.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fenton of 214 Woodland Ave. A junior, he is a pre-engineering student at Capital.

Goalie George Hainsworth recorded 22 shutouts in 44 games with the Montreal Canadiens in the 1929-30 National Hockey League season.

Salem Local Mentor Selected Ohio Class A Coach of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The mentors of Ohio's four unbeaten Class A high school teams staged a close race today for 1960 coach of the year laurels, with the honors going to William (Bill) Hupp of Salem Local of Champaign County.

Hupp, a native of Wheeling, W. Va., who has coached the Tigers to a three-year 70-4 record, nosed out Dan Baker of West Salem Northwest, Homer Pelligrino of New Weston, and Paul Nemetz of Granville for the big prize in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 32-year-old Hupp coached his Buckhannon, W. Va., team to the state tourney twice as he compiled a three-year 64-16 mark, and his 27-0 Tigers reached the Ohio final four a year ago. His current squad is 23-0, the lone loss in the last 51 games being in last year's state semi-finals.

Hundreds of votes from sports writers, coaches and officials were cast in the annual poll. Others prominent in the voting were Eldon Mallory of Vincent, Lee Heminger of Ayersville, Dan Hall of Carthage-Troy, Don Heft of Pickerington, Jack Davis of Trenton, Chuck Kelly of Akron St. Mary, Dick Williams of Lowellville, Marty Vieth of Fostoria St. Wendelin, Jim Stull of Garaway, and Ken Justice of Waterloo.

The selections were based on pre-tournament performances.

John Woolums of Dayton Roosevelt won the Class AA coach of the year award, giving both titles to southwestern district teams. A year ago both went to the northeast, with Dale Reichenbach of Elyria winning in Class AA, and Tony Paris of Norwalk St. Paul in Class A.

Hunter Paces Herron's to Win Akron Team Victim Of Locals In Tourney

Salem High cage star Dave Hunter tossed in 29 points to lead Herron Transfer to a 71-47 victory over Akron Reds Bar in the opening round of the Hubbard Invitational basketball tournament Tuesday night.

Playing his first game for the Salem City League champions, Hunter ripped the nets for 13 field goals and three fouls. John Stephenson and Bill Pauline also hit in double figures for the locals, hooping 14 and 11 points, respectively.

After trailing throughout most of the first half, the Salem team broke the game open in the last two periods. Akron jumped on top 17-16 in the first quarter and maintained a 30-27 lead by intermission.

Salem started rolling in the second half. The Truikers took over the lead 46-40 at the end of three periods and poured it on in the final frame by outscoring Akron 25-7.

On Thursday night at 8:30 Herron's will clash with Youngstown Army-Navy, the team favored to win the Hubbard tourney.

The Army-Navy squad is composed mainly of Youngstown University varsity players. The team also includes Nick Milasovich, high scoring star at Youngstown Wilson High School.

Lopez Rates Pitchers High Despite Ages

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Age and luck going to be the standards this year for another American League pennant for the Chicago White Sox?

"Don't you believe it," Sox Manager Al Lopez said today.

Lopez, who last year led the Sox to their first American League pennant in 40 years, then lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series, sees no danger in the 37-year-old average of four of his pitchers, Gerry Staley, Turk Lown, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

"Staley throws his sinker and Lown his fast ball usually only an inning or two," said the Sox boss. "and what difference is a year or more to Wynn?"

"He pitched 15 minutes his first day out and is the same as ever. And now (Mike) Garcia looks real good," Lopez went on, referring to the former Cleveland Indian.

"And we have (Frank) Baumann, (Don) Ferrarese and (Jake) Striker to take the left-handed pressure off (Billy) Pierce and (Rodolfo) Arias," he pointed out.

The genial senior couldn't see his team's fortunes depending on pitching or luck either.

"We've added speed and power in Gene Ffreese and Minnie Minoso," he pointed out.

Ffreese hit 23 home runs with the Philadelphia Phils last year and will be the starting third baseman. Minoso batted .302 and hit 21 homers, driving in 92 with the Indians.

Someone asked Lopez what he thought about Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane's comments that the White Sox would finish fourth.

"Well, I told Frank that I'd be kinder and pick his club to be second — behind us."

Los Angeles — Eddie Andrews, 160, Las Vegas, Nev., outpointed Henry Salcido, 136, San Jose, Calif., 2.

NYU Strategy Is To Fluster OSU Sophomore Players

NEW YORK (AP) — New York U., the sleeper team among the semifinals in the NCAA basketball showdown in San Francisco Friday and Saturday, is wide awake to the ability of its first opponent, Ohio State's Big Ten champions.

"They're big and strong, they love to run and they have a truly great player in Jerry Lucas," Coach Lou Rossini said today as the Violets went through their last workout before leaving for the coast.

"The way I see it, we have to get control right at the start and keep control. If we can do that, I think we have a good chance."

"But, three starters are sophomores (68 All America Lucas, 65 John Havlicek, and backcourt man Mel Nowell) and we hope they can be flustered."

"That's something we'll try to make sure happens Friday."

NYU, which hurdled Connecticut, West Virginia and Duke in winning the NCAA Eastern Regional title by being patient and possessive, plans no change in tactics.

"We won those games because we held the ball and played for only the good shots," Rossini said. "The boys had complete control of themselves at all times. I don't think we used the fast break more than two or three times in the two games at Charlotte (against West Virginia and Duke). We can be pretty tough when we get a lead. A press doesn't bother the boys."

"And the boys are confident, too."

Good basketball is something the Violets have been getting all season from three players, 6-6 Tom Sanders, a bespectacled, sharpshooting Negro voted the metropolitan area's outstanding player, and two backcourt men, sophomore Ray Paprocky and senior Russ Cunningham.

Their 11-game winning streak that has built a 23-3 record for the late blooming Violets has come since the two other starters, 6-5 Al Barden and 6-4 Al Filardi, developed into steady performers.

Rocky Knocks In 4 Runs as Tribe Wins

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito knocked in four runs with a homer and a bases-loaded single as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-5 Tuesday for their first exhibition victory of the year.

The slugger from The Bronx, N.Y., shared the laurels with rookie pitcher Carl Thomas, who protected the Tribe's slim lead in the last three innings.

Long doubles by Jim Piersall and Tito Francona gave the Indians a run in the first inning. Colavito added two more with a clout over the left field fence off Steve Ridzik, an ex-Indian.

Rocky bounced a single to center in the third after hits by Piersall and Tito Francona gave the Indians a run in the first inning. This broke a tie, for the Cubs had scored three runs off John Briggs.

After the Cubs scored two more runs off southpaw Ed Drapeho, Thomas came in and held them to one single. He struck out three. The Cubs' big man was Dale Long, who hit a homer and two singles.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Officials of the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues are being called on the carpet by some parents and local sports enthusiasts for withdrawing a petition to the Board of Education and Athletic Board asking that baseball be made a varsity sport at the high school.

In his letter withdrawing the petition, John Herman, Jr., president of the Junior Leagues, gave this reason for his organization's action:

"It is the feeling of our organization that we did not have the wholehearted support of the Salem Board of Education and the Salem High School Athletic Board. "Since the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues do not want to cause any friction between our organizations, we felt that the withdrawal of our petition would be for the best interest of the Salem High School students and parents who want baseball on the high school athletic program."

"Our feelings are in the interest of the youth of Salem and we feel our program will continue in its great stride regardless of having baseball in Salem High School. Our board voted to place a team on the field that would cover the ages of seniors who can not play Legion baseball."

"We sincerely hope that in future years you will find ways and means to add another sport of major rating to the high school athletic program. We shall continue to support our Salem youth and our school system."

THE JUNIOR BASEBALL Leagues were not asking the school for any favors. In fact, they made a generous offer to meet all expenses incurred by the sport with the exception of paying the salary of a coach which is frowned upon by law.

The Leagues had no selfish reason for making their proposal. They have a long and outstanding record in Salem of providing opportunities for youth to participate in a program which teaches the ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty, courage and reverence.

The Junior Leagues provide an opportunity for any boy in the city to play baseball who wants to. The decision of the school not to give varsity baseball a trial will not leave any boy without the opportunity to play on an organized team.

Still, a youth takes considerable pride in playing under the banner of his high school and in winning a varsity letter.

INTRAMURALS PROVIDE an excellent outlet and school officials should be commended for their efforts to expand that program. However, varsity participation is the pinnacle for the high school athlete. It gives him something to strive for and makes his long hours of practice seem worthwhile.

Supt. Paul Smith has stated that he does not propose that intramurals should take the place of a strong varsity program but that they should be used as a base.

Still the only reason we've heard given by the Athletic Board for its failure to support baseball as a varsity sport is the one offered by Track Coach Karl Zellers who says that it would interfere with the track program.

PARTICIPATION IN TRACK and field is to be encouraged. It is an excellent conditioning sport. For the most part, however, track is individual action while baseball is more of a team sport. Remember a one-man track team from Barborton by the name of Glenn Davis?

Coach Zellers' contention that a boy does not need to be in good physical condition to be an outstanding baseball player is not an internationally accepted fact. Karl is a more than capable track coach and is good natured enough to admit that is "slightly prejudiced" against the baseball proposal.

Now, with the exception that track is a fine sport, are the any other reasons why boys at Salem High shouldn't be able to choose between track and baseball for varsity participation in the spring?

JOHN CABAS CONTINUES to receive recognition from throughout the state for his accomplishments with Salem High basketball teams. In balloting by hundreds of Ohio scribes and coaches this year, Cabas received sufficient support to land him in the number four spot for Class AA Coach of the Year honors.

last year Cabas placed sixth in the voting. Dale Reichenbach of Elyria was top choice in 1959. John Woolums of Dayton Roosevelt is this year's Coach of the Year.

JOHN BAKER, an assistant to head football coach Earle Bruce at Salem last season, has resigned his teaching position to accept a job with Republic Steel in Cleveland. An outstanding end for Salem High and Miami, O., University, Baker will finish out the school year here.

The likeable teacher and coach has been teaching for the past two years at Reilly School. He guided the unbeaten Reilly cagers to the Mickey McGuire League title this season.

Intercity Baseball Loop Meeting Set

An organizational meeting for an intercity baseball league for boys in the 17 to 19 year old age group will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the First National Bank Building in Alliance.

Several area cities are expected to send representatives to the meeting. The cities include Salem, Leetonia, Lisbon, Minerva, Hanoverton, Carrollton, Louisville, Sebring, Damascus, Marlboro, Atwater and Alliance.

John Herman, Jr., president of the Salem Junior Baseball Leagues says that Salem is definitely interested in placing a team in such a league.

The Intercity League would play under a Hot Stove League charter and rules. Jack Rafeld of Alliance, one of the organizers of the new league, says that the loop will operate if four or more cities enter a team.

Stanley Cup Playoffs Will Begin Tuesday

DETROIT (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, beset by a woeful start and midseason tragedy, have struggled into the Stanley Cup playoffs and claim they can win the trophy symbolic of hockey supremacy.

Now they can sit back and watch the Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins fight for the fourth and final playoff spot.

The National Hockey League's postseason action starts Tuesday in Montreal. It looks as if the Hawks, 3-2 winners over Detroit in Tuesday night's only game, will face Montreal in the first round. Chicago now is three points ahead of Detroit in third place.

The Hawks had only one victory and three ties after their first 15 games this season.

Detroit is four points ahead of Boston with two games left. The Bruins, who play the Rangers at New York tonight, have three games left, two on the road.

Bliss Ekes Out Win Over Lease Drugs

Bliss Co. eked out a 31-30 victory over Lease Drugs in a slow Break League make-up basketball game played Tuesday night at the Memorial Building.

The two evenly-matched outfits battled to a 9-9 tie in the first quarter. Bliss moved on top 23-21 by intermission and maintained its two-point margin, 27-25, as the final quarter got underway.

Bob Kupka with 14 points was high man for Bliss. Greene collected 13 markers and Pastier 11 for the losers.

Citation was the last horse to win the Triple Crown of racing — the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes. He did it in 1948.

Garden Clubs Convene

Under the direction of a committee from the Salem Garden Club, the Junior Garden Club of Prospect School and the Junior Garden Club of Fourth Street School met in separate sessions at the respective schools.

A printed program featuring information on "Horticulture" was presented to each student, and Mrs. Joseph F. Schmidt introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. A. Parker, Salem Garden Club member, who gave an informative talk on the topic.

Mrs. Parker defined gardening terms, plants, trees and flowers, explaining that "gardening can be done for fun, food, income, exercise and beauty."

The junior gardeners were given small plastic containers, soil and marigold seeds which they planted. These plants will be kept in the classrooms and will be cared for by the students.

Each teacher received a painted carton containing colored egg shells filled with soil and planted with flower seeds.

National wildlife posters and literature, received from the Wildlife Department in Washington, D.C., were distributed, and the students were urged to feed wildlife.

"Water and Its Proper Use" is the subject stressed for National Wildlife Week March 20-26.

"Basic Flower Arrangement Principles" will be the discussion for the clubs' April meetings with the committee, of which Mrs. Joseph J. Hiegel is chairman.

Predicts Kennedy Nomination

Democratic Chairman Butler Commits Political Boo-Boo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler seemed likely today to survive a political boo-boo that might have cost a less-agile performer his job.

Butler made what many in his party regard as the political mistake of being caught at predicting that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) will win the Democratic presidential nomination.

He was identified by the New York Post, which presumably had no representative there, as the highly placed Democrat who told a group of reporters at the National Press Club Monday that recent developments indicate a Kennedy victory.

National chairmen are traditionally supposed to be neutral in pre-convention contests. Under political protocol they are not permitted to side publicly with one candidate against another or even suggest that any particular individual is in the lead.

Some other chairman might have faced serious demands for his ouster from the temporarily united forces of Kennedy's rivals for the nomination. But only Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey came forward to say that Butler had "outlived his usefulness" by taking sides in the presidential contest.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, often a target for Butler criticism, declined any comment.

The fact remained, however, that only the National Committee could fire Butler and it has stood staunchly behind him in his frequent excursions into hot water with many elements of his party.

In the course of what seems a charmed life in the chairmanship, he has berated Southerners about civil rights to the extent that some Dixie party organizations won't send funds to the national group so long as he is chairman.

He has squabbled with Gov. David L. Lawrence, the Pennsylvania national committeeman. He has a running feud going with Col. Jacob M. Arvey, the Illinois national committeeman.

But a good many Democrats think Butler has made his job of managing the party's national convention much more difficult by putting himself in a position where it could be reported that he is for Kennedy.

Every choice he makes of a convention official now will be examined carefully to determine whether he is putting a Kennedy man in a key position. And the attitude of rival candidates toward any such action may not be quite so lenient when the nomination battle reaches the infighting stage.

Strotter Brown Recalled

Former Slave Colorful Figure Here Years Ago

By JAMES MURPHY

Salem has seen some fabulous people, but one of her best-remembered characters is a man named Strotter Brown. Strotter was an old slave who, free at the end of the Civil War, came to Salem to earn a living by weaving baskets and being a general jack-of-all-trades.

He lived in a small ram-shackle building that stood on Mud Street near the present Cherry Hill Rocker plant.

Long since destroyed, his house stood right beside the crossing of the Stark Electric Railroad.

STROTTER, who loved animals, had as his constant companion an old gray mare named Jenny that, it is said, he could strut "like nobody's business".

Strotter Brown

H. A. Shinn of the Benton Road remembers when Strotter Brown was a familiar sight around Salem and, whenever the old man was seen, he was usually leading his horse.

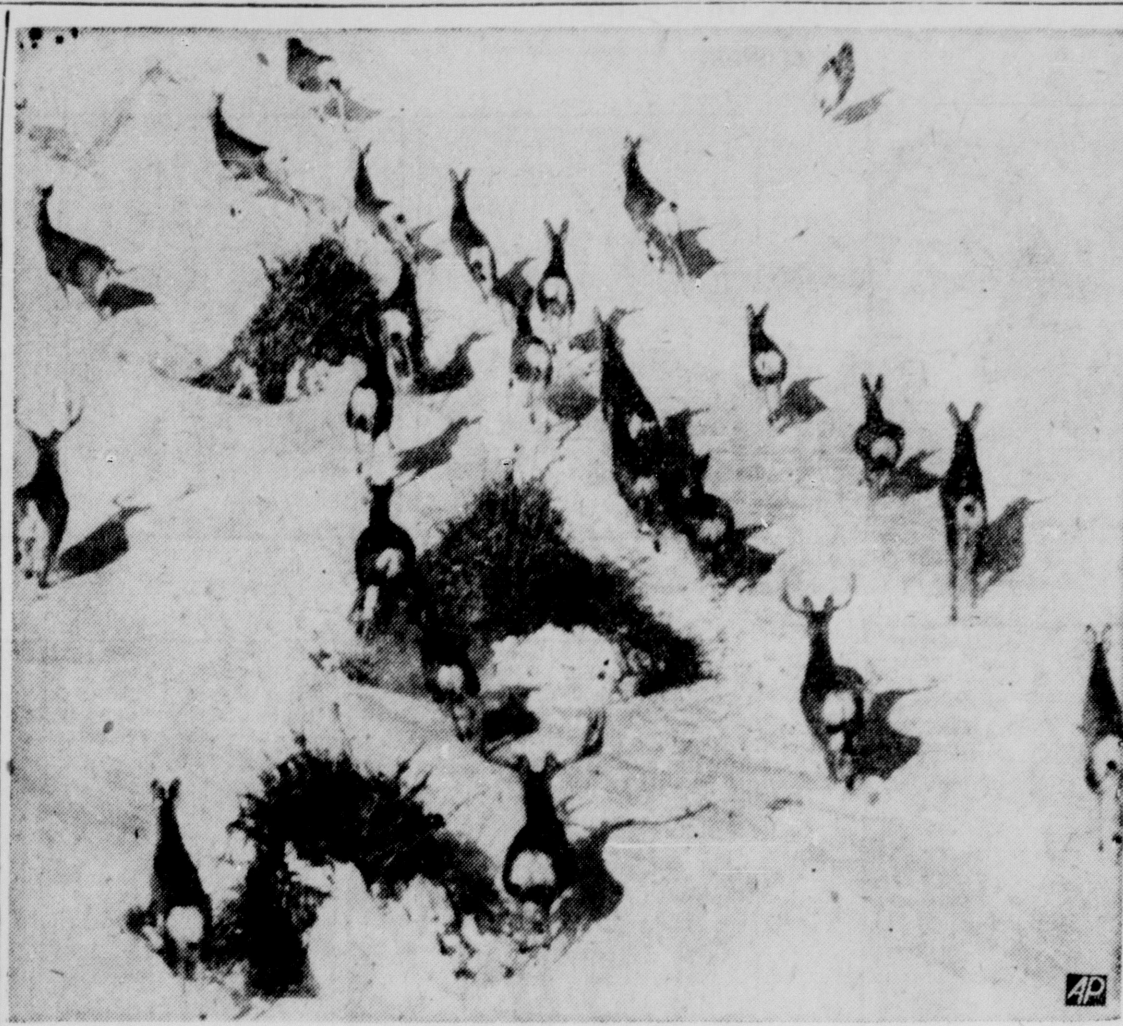

Once Mr. Shinn's father offered to trade Jenny for "a right good penknife." Strotter vehemently declined and wouldn't have anything to do with "that no 'count Shinn man" for a long time. This little feud was patched up one day when young Harry Shinn helped fix Strotter's wagon, which had broken down in front of the Shinn farm.

Popular with children, the gentle man suffered quite a few pranks at their hands, but usually took them good naturedly. It was seldom that he was in town without having a group of young children following him.

BESIDES making baskets, Strotter did odd jobs for various families in Salem. Since he raised most of his own food, there was little use for money. In payment for his services, Strotter was satisfied with some oats for his horse, or some other staple. It was not often that he accepted payment in cash.

During the half-century that Strotter Brown lived in Salem, he built up quite a clientele. "Every one had to have a Strotter Brown basket," recalls Mrs. Ina Yengling, who lives in the log cabin on W. Tenth St. Mrs. Yengling still has several of the baskets, and no doubt there are a few others remaining in some of Salem's attics and cellars.

There is a monument in the north end of Hope Cemetery, mark-

PROBLEM FOR KANSAS FARMER — This herd of 47 deer that has been playing on the Leland Holworth farm near St. Francis, Kan., has worn its welcome thin. Holworth appealed to the state game commissioner this week to help him drive away the herd he says is causing damage on his farm this winter. Holworth, who has been prevented from shooting at the animals by the state game laws, has tried scaring them away with an airplane, from which this picture was taken.

Columbiana Teachers To Get Pay Raises

COLUMBIANA — The board of education, at its meeting Monday night, adopted a new teacher salary schedule to go into effect next fall for the 1960-61 school year, including boosts of from $100 to $400 a year, depending on training and experience of the individual educators.

A teacher holding a master's degree then will receive a maximum of $6,000 and a minimum of $4,200, the difference being accounted for in annual increments of $150 for each year of experience, up to 12 years. The current maximum for a master's degree holder is $5,600.

On the other end of the scale, teachers with less than three years of experience next year can receive a maximum of $4,100, compared with $4,000 at present. The minimum will be $3,100.

FIRST SHOWING of "Your Columbiana," a two and a half hour movie of community doings back in 1951, will be made tonight at the Manos Theatre. Curtain time is 7:45. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization, the movie will be repeated Thursday and Friday nights. A special Saturday matinee for children also is scheduled.

Mrs. James Renfrew, PTO president, urged public support of show, a fund-raising project.

EDWARD L. HOON, staff representative for the Ohio Education Association, was guest speaker at a joint meeting Monday night at Dixon school of the Columbiana Classroom Teachers Association and members of the Kiwanis Club. The teachers were hosts for the meeting, which also had as guests members of the board of education and retired teachers.

Hoon pointed to the huge school enrollment increases facing the nation, the swelling demand for further services from the schools and the limited share of the tax dollar available for school operations on the local level as problems which must be met head-on. "Now we have to think about education," he said, "about what we must continue and what we can discard (in the system)."

He was introduced by Mrs. Laura

Mrs. Laughner was guest speaker Sunday evening at a meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Salem. She shared information pictures and articles on mission work in Liberia, Africa which she received through her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James R. Stull.

Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet in the social room of the Methodist Church Tuesday at 8, with Mrs. George Weikart and Mrs. Lesta Fenstermaker as the hostesses. Mrs. Elby Morris will have the devotions and Mrs. Weikart will have charge of the program.

Priscilla Club of St. Paul Lutheran Church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Marion Lodge, 159 Chestnut St., following the Lenten service.

The meeting of the Sue Bixler Missionary Society scheduled for Friday afternoon has been cancelled.

The District Band-Choral contests will be held at Carrollton High School Saturday.
